Where you can go beyond

Congratulations on your acceptance to Pitt-Bradford. You're one step closer to going beyond. To finding that place where you'll learn more than you thought possible, where you'll be challenged and you'll rise to meet that challenge, where you'll meet new people and have amazing, eye-opening experiences.

You can do all of that here. You can go beyond in all aspects of your college life.

ACADEMICS

You'll be able to choose from more than 40 majors and more than 50 minors, concentrations and pre-professional programs. And, in each of those programs, you'll be able to go beyond textbooks and classroom lectures to get hands-on experiences, which will prepare you even more for life after college.

- Solve mock crime scenes in our CSI House
- Build your own sensors then program them to measure carbon dioxide in soil.
- Broadcast from WDRQ, the campus radio station.
- Work on the staff or write for our literary magazine, Baily's Beads.

- Help perform environment assessments with area foresters.
- Make your own music video in the TV production lab.

But there's more.

“It’s been an eye-opening and heart-wrenching experience, but I feel so inspired.”

— Akiré Hoots

Meet Akiré Hoots, a sociology major from Columbia, S.C.

Akiré wanted to study an area she was unfamiliar with so she chose Thailand. During her summer, she studied migration, refugees and human rights in Southeast Asia, which has inspired her to pursue a career that helps exploited communities.

STUDY ABROAD

When we say you can go beyond, we mean it literally. Our students have studied all over the world, from Austria to Japan, from Denmark to Germany. When the students returned home, they realized they had more confidence, knew more about themselves and the world, and were open to even more possibilities.

Read about more students who are studying abroad, researching and interning at www.upb.pitt.edu/youcangobeyond.

“I am so blessed to have amazing professors who care about their students’ academic success.”

— Rosemary Nwabuogu

CONDUCT RESEARCH

On our campus, you'll have an opportunity to conduct research, sometimes with one of your professors, which usually isn't possible at larger universities. You'll also have the chance to present your findings during our Honors Day event on campus, in publications, or at regional and national undergraduate research conferences. You can conduct research in many majors, not just the sciences. Our students have researched topics in mathematics, sociology, criminal justice and psychology.

See what other topics students are researching at www.upb.pitt.edu/research.

CAMPUS LIFE

We're a safe community

Because we're a close-knit community, we look after each other and we take care of each other, almost like a family. Our campus police officers patrol our well-lit campus 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, to keep us safe. We also have extensive security measures in place to provide security for all campus buildings, including our residence halls.

Residence life

We want Pitt-Bradford to be your home away from home. No matter which residence hall you live in, you'll find a comfortable place where you can relax and hang out with your friends. All of our halls are fully furnished and wired for cable TV (you'll have 95 channels to surf through) and high-speed internet.

And when your stomach is growling, you'll be able to find something to satisfy your hunger amid all of the choices in our dining room - from pizza and burgers to made-to-order omelets and salads. If there's something you don't see, just ask. Our dining staff wants to make sure you're happy and well fed. They also want you to have a little fun, so they plan theme nights and special events. During an international dinner, they served several dishes, including paella, spicy peanut soup, jerk chicken and pork pot stickers. At an '80s dinner, they made Pac-Man cupcakes.
